

TARIFF DEBATE STARTS FIGHT

Washington, July 5.—The Republican petition for cloture, to shut off debate on the administration tariff bill, was presented late today in the Senate. It immediately provoked a bitter fight which promised to consume much of the session tomorrow. Under the rules the issue must come to a vote at noon on Friday.

There were fifty-two signatures to the petition or twelve less than the two-thirds majority necessary to invoke the existing cloture rule, which would limit debate on the bill to one hour for each Senator and preclude the offering of any additional amendments, even by the Finance Committee majority.

All except eight of the sixty Republicans in the Senate signed the petition. These eight were La Follette, Norris, Johnson, Moses, Borah, Brandegee, Crow and Weller. Immediately the petition was presented by Chairman McCumber of the Finance Committee it brought a protest from Senator Underwood of Alabama, the Democratic leader.

"The idea of discussing 1000 amendments in sixty minutes!" he exclaimed. "Gentlemen on the other side had better suggest that we have no further debate."

Senator Robinson (Dem.), Arkansas, in a vigorous speech, raised the issue of good faith in the presentation of the petition.

"This bill in the form presented by the Finance Committee is beaten," he shouted. "Is there a Senator who doesn't know that on that side of the chamber (the Republican side) there is a growing feeling of disgust that is threatening the defeat of the bill?"

"It's beaten in the public conscience. This petition for cloture is presented as pure buncombe and some signers of the petition would be glad to see the bill abandoned. Everywhere in primary contests where it has been made an issue, its proponents have met with disaster. The press of the country is against it almost unanimously."

Senator Lodge replied that the petition had been offered in "absolute good faith."

"If any Senator doubts that it was offered in good faith, let him vote for it and see if we do not pull it thru," said the majority leader. "If they (the Democrats) think this tariff is beaten, why don't they bring it to a vote? They know it is not beaten."

"We believe the country demands action, prompt action on this bill!"

Senator Underwood responded that it was not possible to agree to a time to vote on a bill which still was being amended by the Finance Committee, as opponents could not know what amendments would be presented or whether portions now satisfactory would be changed later.

Majority leaders in charge of the bill were warned today by Senator Lenroot (Rep.), Wisconsin, leader of the Progressive group, that unless some of the high duties proposed in the tariff bill were brought down to within reason he would reserve the right to vote against the measure.

Senator Lenroot's announcement came at the close of an address opposing the duty of 15 cents a pound on unshelled almonds, which he declared to be unjustified on the showing both of Senators Johnson and Shortridge (Rep.), California, and Almond Growers' Association of California in favor of the rate.

The Wisconsin Senator said he was in favor of protection, but added that he had "no sympathy with the system that seems to prevail here that if the interests of a person in a Senator's state demand exorbitant duties that Senator can go and ask for and receive those duties, and then because of the interrelationship of duties thru out the bill that Senator will vote for every increase that is proposed."

Senator Johnson, in a fiery reply to the Wisconsin Senator, declared he was casting his vote as between the almond growers who were selling at a loss and candy manufacturers who were making 300 per cent profits and fighting the rate on almonds.

The California Senator said he had seen Senator Lenroot sit here day after day and vote for ad valorem duties higher than the ad valorem equivalent to the specific rate on almonds. He added that the almond growers were asking for the 15 cents duty in order to live, "not to reap 300 per cent profits as the confectioners are making."

The committee amendment carrying the 15 cents a pound rate on almonds finally was approved, 39 to 18. Two Republicans, La Follette and Lenroot, voted against it, and three Democrats, Ashurst, Broussard and Kendrick, supported it.

An amendment by Senator Walsh (Dem.), of Massachusetts, to make the rate 6 cents a pound was rejected, 14 to 17. Senator La Follette was the only Republican to support it, while two Democrats, Ashurst and Kendrick, voted against it.

Without roll call the Senate approved these rates:

Limes and oranges, 1 cent per pound; grapefruit, one-half cent per pound; raisins, 2½ cents a pound; currants, 2 cents per pound; dates, fresh or dried, 1 cent per pound, prepared or preserved, 40 per cent and valorem.

Republican leaders on the reconvening of the Senate today were prepared to present their petition for the invoking of the cloture rule to curb debate on the tariff bill. Although between fifty-five and sixty Republicans have signed the petition, majority leaders said it was improbable that the necessary two-thirds vote for cloture could be obtained when the motion is voted on, probably this Friday. Under the rules the motion must lie over a day before a vote is taken. While several Democrats were said to favor cloture, the minority were expected to line up against it.

Although expecting defeat, of the cloture move, Republican leaders said it would at least demonstrate a desire on the part of the majority to bring the tariff measure to an early vote. If the move failed and substantial progress was not made on the bill, they were prepared, they said, to lay it aside and make a fight for doption of the proposed new cloture rule, recommended recently by two Republican conferences, to invoke cloture by a majority instead of a two-thirds vote.

FATHER FITZKAM IS TRANSFERRED

Benton, July 5.—Father Joseph Fitzkam, pastor of the Catholic church here for the past 12 years, left Tuesday for Flint Hill, St. Charles county, to take charge of a parish there.

Father Fitzkam held his farewell mass here Tuesday morning at which every parishioner except one, was in attendance. That his leaving caused much regret among the parishioners was evident from the many tears shed at the service. Father Fitzkam wept with them.

Coming to Benton 12 years ago, Father Fitzkam endeared himself to every member of his parish, as well as the entire citizenship of Benton and Scott county, through his many kind deeds. He was a leader in his community and was active in every movement for the betterment of it. The parish he is to take charge of at Flin Hill is about twice as large as the Benton parish. He succeeds an elderly priest, who was recently transferred to St. Louis county.

He will be succeeded here by the Rev. Father Christ Hosschewelle, who, for the past 14 years, has been pastor of St. Barbara church, in St. Louis.

Illmo, July 5.—The Rev. Fr. Lader, pastor of the Catholic church here, has been transferred to Lixville, Bollinger county. He is succeeded here by Father Groner, lately of Joseyville. Father Groner arrived here Tuesday.

Leo Pfefferkorn, of Oran, candidate for Recorder of Deeds on the Democratic ticket, was a Sikeston visitor the latter part of the week and called on The Standard office.

John M. Beardslee has withdrawn from the race for County Clerk on the Democratic ticket and Sherwood Smith will be the Democratic standard bearer. Mr. Beardslee finds that business reasons prevent him from making an active campaign, hence his decision. Mr. Smith is a brother of Prof. Frank Smith, formerly of Sikeston, and will carry the large railroad vote of Chaffee and Illmo, which will insure his election in November.

Edwin J. Bean of De Sota, who is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Judge of the Supreme Court for Division No. 2, visited Macon today. Mr. Bean is the only candidate for Supreme Judge for the Southeast Missouri, which is without representation in the court and which will furnish 60,000 voters for the ticket. Mr. Bean's friend urged his selection because of his ability to render efficient service. He is well known throughout the state and will be a strong candidate. His friends confidently predict his nomination and election.—Macon Chronicle.

NEW MADRID COUNTY FARM BUREAU NEWS

Southeast Missouri Picnic Well Attended.

More than 1000 people attended the Southeast Missouri Farm Bureau picnic given at the farm of Judge Caveno at Canolou. Most of the people came in cars, and a large number of people came by train to Morehouse, Canolou and Matthews, where they were conveyed by the people of those town to the picnic.

A horseshoe pitching tournament and athletic events occupied the time in the morning. The counties entering the horse shoe tournament were Cape Girardeau, Butler, Pemiscot, New Madrid, Mississippi and Scott. The games were pitched with the official shoes, and were conducted by two umpires and a scorer. Mississippi County team won the tournament and the prize of $10.00 in trade in the retail department of Himmelberger-Harrison Lumber Co., Morehouse. The team winning second was Cape Girardeau County and the prize was a box of cigars given by T. C. Smith Confectionery, Morehouse, Mo. New Madrid won third and a sack of flour given by the Liggett Merc. Co., of New Madrid. Mississippi County team was composed of Rowe and Duval, Cape County of Schwear and Stonner and New Madrid of J. A. Engle and W. W. Fralick.

The athletics and stunts for fun making was pleasing to old and young. Such events as running, jumping and ball throwing were the main features. The following business houses of Morehouse awarded prizes: T. C. Smith Confectionery, Bank of Morehouse, J. E. Parmley, W. O. Mason, George Boone, Morehouse Grain & Supply Co., L. J. Gray, Givens & Parrish, Peoples Bank, John Shoulters, E. F. Walden, Philip Banks, Morehouse Drug Co., O. M. Headlee, Himmelberger-Harrison Lumber Co., C. L. Sullivan. The following business houses in New Madrid awarded prizes:

Newsam & Mitchell, Dawson Grocery Co., Manheimer, Commercial Trust Co., Frankle Store, H. Buchert, Hummels Drug Co., Red Crown Filling Station, Latham & Lewis Drug Co., and Liggett Mercantile Co.

Everyone enjoyed the basket dinner and the good shade that was afforded by the splendid grove. Soon after dinner the speaking program was begun. C. M. Brandt, of the Southeast Missouri Teachers College lead the community singing, which everyone enjoyed. Judge Caveno introduced the speakers on the program. John A. Montgomery, president of the Southeast Agricultural Bureau, gave a splendid address on the purposes of the organization which he represents. People were loud in their praise of address given by Mrs. C. C. Shuttler, chairman of the Womans' Committee of the American Farm Bureau Federation. C. B. Denman, President of the Live Stock Producers Commission Co., National Stock Yards, Ill., gave farmers an interesting talk on co-operative marketing of live stock, and impressed on them the necessity of going to the market with their live stock through their own organization, in order to be able to talk prices to the packers.

The program on the whole was enjoyed by all and many expressed the desire that it should be an annual affair for Southeast Missouri.

Dr. P. M. Malcolm came near losing an eye by the accidental placing of carbolic acid on the lid after a sty had been opened. Sunday morning he called on one of his fellow practitioners to open the festured place on the lid and while dressing same a drop or two of carbolic acid was put on the lid instead of another wash or dressing. As quick as possible pure alcohol was used to wash off the acid, but not until Dr. Malcolm was painfully burned. Monday morning he went to Cairo to consult a specialist and it is believed and hoped that the sight of the eye will not be affected. It was an unfortunate mistake. CONTRACTOR DRINKS CARBOLIC ACID

Benton, July 5.—John Warner, dredging contractor, took his life at an early hour this morning by drinking carbolic acid. He was found in the barn at 5 o'clock by Mrs. Warner, who immediately summoned a doctor and friends. Life was ebbing and he succumbed a short while later. It is believed that he drank the acid just a short while before Mrs. Warner found him. No inquest was considered necessary.

Worry over business affairs was said to have been responsible for him committing the act. He had several dredging contracts under way in New Madrid County and it is reported that these contracts were proving unsuccessful financially.

Warner was one of the best known men in Southeast Missouri, having made many friends since coming to this section about 20 years ago. His former home was in Dayton, Ohio.

Friends of his stated today that while they knew his business affairs were causing him much worry lately, he was usually in a jovial mood and no suspicions had been aroused that he planned self-destruction.

Warner was 55 years old and leaves his wife and five children to mourn his death. All the children are at home, except the eldest daughter, who is in Dayton attending school.—Cape Southeast Missourian.

Long For Senator

Senator James A. Reed voted for the declaration of war against Germany. When war had been declared, then everybody but Jim Reed and his handful of followers was for the measures that would make it the briefest war possible; such measures being the draft, food and industrial control and general mobilization of men and resources. Long before the war closed President Wilson declared with the universal approval of the country, that there must be formed an organization of the nations of the earth to prevent the recurrence of another such ghastly calamity as the world war.

As soon as the armistice was declared, the terms of which were related by President Wilson and provided for such an organization, the president began with all the energy of his nature the task of bringing together the nations of the world except the Bolshevik government of Russia, the Turks and the Mexicans, and the United States.

And why did not the United States join in this great humanitarian organization? Because the Republicans had gotten control of congress and under the leadership of Lodge and Will Hays, aided by Jim Reed, entered upon a campaign having for its battle cry, "Destroy Wilson and all his works". This campaign was begun immediately upon the signing of the Armistice and was conducted in public by Lodge and Reed and their followers with a virulence heretofore unknown in the history of the country, and in private by Will Hays and the emissaries of the Republican National Committee, in what is now known as the "Whispering Campaign", conducted on railroad trains, in hotel lobbies and in the camps of the soldiers awaiting transportation home from Europe. This latter campaign consisted mostly in circulating slanders against the private lives and characters of President Wilson and his associates at the peace conference, and in the circulation of stories calculated to poison the minds of hearers against our late associates in the war.

This nefarious campaign, with these three men as the out-standing leaders was kept up while President Wilson was struggling to keep faith at the council table in Paris, while he was pleading with his countrymen, while he lay for months on a bed of pain, 'till presidential election of 1920. This is one of the reasons why we are opposed to James A. Reed for Senator. There are others.—Mexico Ledger.

Rev. Thos. B. Mather and the Scouts are planning a camping trip at Bufordsville. They will leave here on July 24 and will be gone until the 28th. About forty Scouts will go and as they will need plenty to eat, any of the good citizens of Sikeston who wish to donate eatables, the Scouts will certainly appreciate it. Anyone wishing to donate, will kindly phone Rev. Mather.

ATTY. GEN. BARRETT SPEAKS AT SIKESTON

Two of the Republican candidates for United States Senate have recently spoken in Sikeston, Mr. Brewster to a house of less than 60, and Mr. Barrett to a crowd estimated at 200. The Standard editor was unable to attend the Brewster speaking, but was present to hear Mr. Barrett. More than half of the Barrett audience were Democrats. He was introduced by Attorney Bailey, who highly recommended Mr. Barrett. The first part of the address was a good Democratic speech and was indorsed by Democrats and Republicans alike. This was his alluding to the centralizing of too much power in Washington and taking away States' rights. The part that we could not agree with him was the wonderful accomplishments of the Republican administration in the short time they have been in power. Mr. Barrett explained the extraordinary situation in Stoddard County, where the Republican prosecuting attorney, not being an active lawyer, called for assistance and was given Judge Fort, a Democrat. Judge Fort immediately proceeded to clean up the bootleggers and a howl was raised. Mr. Barrett can rest assured that the law abiding people of Stoddard County will not hold that against him in the Senatorial race. The speaker was quite certain that the Republican nominee for Senator would be elected this fall and was just as sure that he would be the man. The Standard believes Mr. Barrett to be the top of the State Republican administration and an officer who will perform his duty as he sees it without fear or favor.

WOMAN'S DEMOCRATIC CLUB REORGANIZED

The meeting held by the Democratic women in the City Hall Wednesday afternoon, was a success in every way.

Mrs. L. O. Rodes was re-elected chairman, and Mrs. W. S. Way was elected Vice-Chairman and Miss Audrey Chaney, Secretary-Treasurer.

Every woman, who is a Democrat, is urged to attend the next meeting, which will be held in the City Hall, Monday afternoon, July 10, at 4 o'clock and join the club or give their name to someone who is a member. There will be a county meeting held in Benton on Saturday, July 8th and as many ladies who possibly can are urged to attend.

DUNKLIN COUNTY LAND GRANT DECLARED ILLEGAL

Litigation in a suit dating to when Dunklin County, Missouri was swamp land was settled in an opinion handed down Monday by Federal Judge Faris, declaring that the patent of William S. Sugg from Dunklin County, date June 22, 1870, and the deed of William S. Sugg to Wiley P. Sugg, dated May 24, 1871, are void and that the land goes to the defendant, the Wisconsin Lumber Company.

The history of the case goes back to when by a contract with Dunklin County, William S. Sugg was to receive 20,000 acres of ground as payment for dredging a river in the county. Before he died he transferred the land to his brother, Wylie P. Sugg, but the court declared the transfer had been made by fraud, and accordingly the land was sold at auction to pay the creditors.

George Rogers, a creditor, bought the 20,000 acres and up to 1907 the heirs of Wylie P. Sugg contested the decree of 1880 until the supreme court of Missouri affirmed it.

But when continued litigation by the heirs of Wylie P. Sugg finally brought the case into the United States District Court it was found that the grant of land to William S. Sugg in 1870 was illegal, and hence neither the heirs of Wylie P. Sugg nor George Parker had any claim to it: so that when in August, 1899, Dunklin County gave the title to Virgil McKay, under whom the defendants now hold it, they were disposing of property which was really theirs.—St. Louis Star.

Mrs. Nattie Auberschon, mother of Mrs. F. O. Baldwin, formerly of this city, died suddenly at her home in Coffman, Mo., Sunday. The remains were buried at Cape Girardeau.

T. W. Lewis, operator at the Western Union office, has been transferred to a similar position at Havre, Montana. C. D. Williams of Cape Girardeau takes the position vacated by Mr. Lewis.

WAS MILFORD HART FOULY MURDERED

Several months ago Milford Hart, living just northeast of Sikeston with his mother and sister, disappeared and if the earth had opened and swallowed him, his whereabouts would not have been more uncertain. He was farming, had his stock, his wheat crop growing, and like all farmers was in debt, but nothing pressing. It was supposed at the time that he became discouraged, picked up and left the neighborhood. His stock was sold to apply on his debts as was the growing wheat. It was believed his absence was only temporary and that in the course of time he would return, but from that day last winter when he left to the present time, no word has been heard from or of him. He was a quiet and inoffensive man and had no enemies that anyone knew of. Of late, rumor has whispered it that perhaps foul play was the reason of the disappearance and that perhaps he had been murdered, though no trace of his dead body has been found. If anyone can throw any light as to his whereabouts, let it be known at once.

The ladies of the Christian church will hold a bake sale at the Church Saturday afternoon of this week. Also cream and cake will be served.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Mayes will leave for Memphis, Tenn., Saturday, where Mr. Mayes will be associated with the leading photographers of that city.

Judge R. F. Walker of the Supreme Court was a Sikeston visitor Tuesday evening and Wednesday morning. He is a most pleasant gentleman to meet and a lawyer of ability.

Mrs. Kate Harris and daughters, Miss Audrey, Lydia Chaney and Margaret Harris motored to Cape Girardeau for the Fourth. Mrs. Louis Houck of the Cape returned with them for a few days visit.

Mrs. Frank Ratcliff surprised her little daughter Barbara, with a party Sunday afternoon from 4 to 6, the occasion being her 10th birthday. The following little folks were present:

Madge Mainord, Gracie Surface, Irene Shelton, Ruby Higgs, Ada and Lucy Deane, Lillian and Leola Spalding, Ed-

na Latham and Madge Arnold, of Sikeston. Refreshments of ice cream and cake and candy were served to the young folks.

W. H. Deane, constable of Big Prairie township, after a considerable chase, arrested Erba Glenn, who had cut up one Charles Cathie, on Monday evening, July 3rd. Glenn had been hiding since the cutting affray. Deane located the fugitive in a thicket of bushes, on the fourth ditch Wednesday evening and brought him to Matthews, where he waived a preliminary examination and was put under a $300 bond, which was furnished by Charles Byser. Cathie's wounds are not considered serious. The difficulty arose over an ugly rumor about Cathie's aunt.

The King Supply Store at Matthews was broken into on Tuesday night, July 4th, and around $150 worth of pants, shoes, overalls, dress shirts and pocket knives were taken. The cash register with about $8.00, Mr. King had taken in very late that evening, wasn't touched. Entrance was made through the back window, the sash being prized up by some stout piece of iron. The robbery was discovered the next morning when the Manager, Mr. Story, went down to open. The robbers used about three or four dozens packages of R. J. R. tobacco to kill the scent in order the proprietors should secure blood hounds. No clue up to now have been found.

COMMITTEE APPROVES WORLD DISARMAMENT

Paris, July 5.—World disarmament was declared by Lord Robert Cecil to have been brought definitely nearer today by the action of a subcommittee of the temporary mixed Commission on Disarmament of the League of Nations in approving his plan for armament reduction. The measure provides for a general reduction of air and land forces under the supervision of the League of Nations, as well as for continental alliance against aggression.

The subcommittee formally approved Lord Robert's plan and sent it back to the full commission. It is taken for granted that the commission will ratify the recommendation in its final session tomorrow.

The full commission yesterday approved the British plan for extending the Washington naval accord to all nations.

During today's discussion of land disarmament a French delegate said his government would want very definite provisions in the agreement so it would be known exactly what the country could depend upon in case of need. The Japanese member of the subcommittee approved the general terms of the plan by declaring he did not believe alliances should be limited to continents, which point he illustrated by giving instances where forces from many countries have been used together as in the world war.

Lord Robert Cecil explained that no one would be barred from aiding a country which had been attacked, but the continental agreement limited the obligations to each country. All countries would be free to enter a defensive war. Hjalmar Branting, Swedish, on behalf of the smaller nations, expressed the view that they did not favor any further military obligations, and suggested that any reform must be slow and cautious.

BLANKET BALLOT LAW AFFECTS THE VOTERS

Jefferson City, Mo., July 2.—The people of Missouri have learned to expect a new election law following the biennial session of the Legislature with as much certainty as they expect new road laws. They have not been disappointed within a lifetime. With quite as much certainty that a new road law will follow the adjournment of a session of Legislature, that same unbroken rule can be made to do service in regard to new election laws.

Next November the voters of the state will cast their ballots under what is known as the "blanket ballot law". This piece of legislation is not an entire innovation. Back in the '90s a blanket ballot law was passed, but it did not meet with the approval of the next Legislature and was repealed and the ribbon ballot law installed.

There are a good many angles to the new blanket ballot law that are not to be found in the old one, scrapped by the Legislature after a single trial of one election, but the foundation is the same. The new law was boosted by State Senator David M. Proctor of Kansas City, who brought with him a number of election laws and acts regulating the constables and justices of the peace of Kansas City when he entered upon his first term as a State Senator, January, 1921. Now he is a Republican candidate for the nomination for United States Senator.

A "blanket ballot" means that all the names of the candidates, with the exception of presidential electors, must be printed upon a single sheet of white paper. This was a provision of the abandoned blanket ballot law. Under the new law, each party may designate an emblem for its ticket, provided it does not select the American flag. The caption of each ticket will contain the name of the party printed in capital letters.

The arrangement of the names of the state ticket for each party will be under the jurisdiction of the Secretary of State, but in the first column he is required to print the candidates of the party that polled the greatest number of votes for Governor at the past election. Under this provision the ticket to be voted upon in November will have the Republican ticket occupying the first column, the Democratic ticket second, the Socialist third, etc. Candidates nominated by petitions will occupy the last column.

Every ballot must contain the names of every candidate of all parties and these must be properly grouped under party names. Outside of the state and local tickets, no other names can appear upon the ballot save President and Vice President during presidential years. The various state committees are required to supply the Secretary of State with accurate information as to their party nominees.

Emblems to be used on state tickets are to be selected by the various party state committees. At the head of each ticket will appear a circular space in which the voter can place a cross or an "X" if he or she desires to vote a straight party ticket. However, this may be omitted without invalidating the ticket, and, in brief, to right to scratch is confirmed by the act. It is presumed that each voter will select his or her candidates and place a cross in a small white space in front of every name for whom the voter desires to vote. Writing in a name on a ballot, however, is permissible.

All ballots must be printed on plain white paper of sufficient thickness to conceal the printing, through the paper. There must be hair lines left in printing the tickets, for the benefit of those who may want to vote mixed tickets.

Where crosses are placed in the small white squares in front of the names of the candidates, these take precedence over a cross in the large circle at the head of the ticket, indicating a desire to vote the ticket straight.

There is a provision in the law applying to large cities with a registration—meaning St. Louis, Kansas City and St. Joseph—that will not be applied to the rural districts. To these cities it may mean much. The ballots are to be printed in books containing ten, fifty, one hundred or more tickets and with each ticket there must be a stub so printed that the names of the voter and the number of the ballots taken can be preserved after the ballots are handed out to the voters. The stubs, together with the unused ballots, the poll books, etc., are to be placed in the custody of the election commissioners by the judges and clerks of election.

In these cities a voter "must announce in an audible voice his or her name, residence", etc., so that the election officials and challengers may clearly know who desires the ticket. This provision was never in the old law, and in fact, none of the provisions of the new law relating solely to St. Louis, Kansas City and St. Joseph was in the old law.

There is a provision requiring seventy-five ballots to be printed for every fifty voters or fraction less than fifty voters in every precinct of the state. At the last general election there were some 3000 precincts in the state. This number will probably be augmented by 200 or 300 for the November election, since it is believed that a great many qualified women who did not vote in 1920 will vote in 1922.

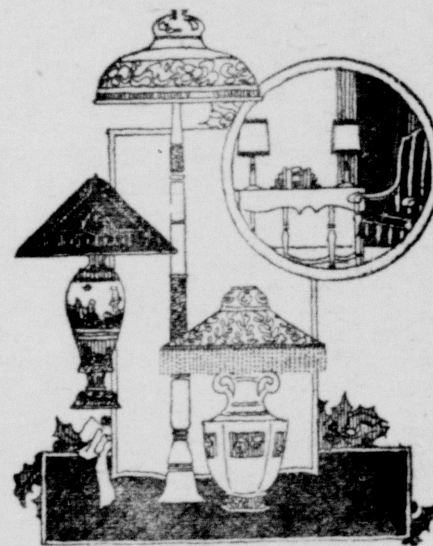

There will be five state tickets outside of any nominations that may be made by petitions. Most of the circuit judges and the local county officers will be to elect in November, and this will lengthen the ballot out beyond a Presidential year.

FUTURE HOUSEWIVES LEARN HOME-MAKING

Jefferson City, Mo., July 5.—"I consider the work of home-making as important as any work being done in our schools", said Sam A. Baker, State Superintendent of Schools, in a recent press interview. Supt. Baker declared that "the time and money being spent on the training we are giving our boys much of it go to waste unless these boys are going in to the right kind of homes".

Supt. Baker said that one of the most important phases of present-day education is the training for home-making which is being given to girls and women in Missouri high schools. "When we consider the fact that eighty per cent of our girls will be home-makers and that more than fifty per cent of the income of the average American is expended by the housewife for clothing, food and shelter", remarked Baker, "we realize the need for this training, since there are more people engaged in the profession of home-making than in any other occupation in this country".

In tracing the development of vocational home economics education in Missouri for the last three years under the Smith-Hughes Act, which grants federal aid for this type of work, according to Baker, there were in 1918 but ten schools offering this subject, with an enrollment of 240 students. For the year just closing, he stated, there were 39 high schools carrying on the work, with an enrollment of more than 1,250; 130 evening schools, with an enrollment of more than 3,000, and 35 part-time schools, with 520 enrolled, making a total of more than 4,000 girls and women receiving training in the job of home-making.

It is Supt. Baker's conviction that this phase of education has greatly vitalized the connection between the home and the school in every branch of the domestic arts, and its practical application is reflected in the growing demand by the schools of the state for vocational home economics.

STATE CHILD LABOR STILL IN FORCE

Joseph Heytmann, of the Missouri Department Industrial Inspection, was in Sikeston during the week looking after matters for his bureau. He found the city in good sanitary condition and very few children under 14 years of age at work.

The State Industrial Inspection Department, in charge of Mrs. Alice Cur-tice Moyer-Wing, has found considerable difficulty since the federal child labor law was declared unconstitutional. Mrs. Wing states that the state child labor laws are still valid. Discussing the matter, Mrs. Wing said:

"The national law was an outgrowth of the wish to protect the children in the states most derelict in this direction and now the decision of its unconstitutionality has put the responsibility squarely upon each individual state, making each answerable to its own citizens—and half the citizens of the United States at present are women voters with the rights of the child looming big in their minds.

"The Missouri child labor laws are not, by any means, perfect. They need strengthening, but not a single one of them has been repealed and each and every one of them is being rigidly enforced by the State Industrial Inspection Department."

A short time ago Chas. Robertson, William Martin and J. O. Smith of Frankfort had a lot of hogs vaccinated. Mr. Robertson lost 107 out of the 110 he had vaccinated, Mr. Martin lost 44 out of 47 and Mr. Smith lost 42 out of the 45 he had vaccinated. The hogs died in a few hours after they were treated. Knowing that something was wrong, the owners of the hogs had the man who sold the serum come to Frankfort to investigate. The man said the government inspected his serum and sealed the packages. Mr. Robertson told the man he intended to have pay for the hogs he lost and expected him to do the paying. After considering the matter, the gentleman paid Messrs. Robertson, Martin and Smith for their hogs.—New London Record.

FISK AND ASH HILL MELON GROWERS ARE STRONG FOR ASSOCIATION

Ninety per cent of the watermelon growers of Fisk and Ash Hill have enrolled as members of the Southeast Missouri Melon Growers' Association for this year, says W. M. Gaty, secretary-manager of the Association, who spent last Saturday with the growers of those communities. There are about 350 acres planted to melons in the Fisk and Ash Hill fields, and more than 300 acres will be Association melons, said Mr. Gaty. The melons from these fields last year brought the highest prices paid for the Southeast Missouri product, and the crop there this year gives promise of a good yield. Some of the melons will be ready for market by July 20th.

The growers of Fisk and Ash Hill are paying considerable attention to thinning and pruning of their vines. They thin to only one vine to a hill and prune to two melons to a vine. They also reserve the space between every eighth and ninth rows as a driveway. This is done by training the vines to grow out of this space. By providing such driveways in their fields the growers can gather their crop without damaging the vines.

State Inspectors May Help

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Southeast Missouri Melon Growers Association, held in Sikeston last Friday, the system of grades and standards as recommended by the State Bureau of Marketing was accepted. The directors instructed Secretary-Manager Gaty to ask the Bureau to send State Inspectors for the various shipping points in this district during the marketing season.

Pigs that will be grown in a number of Missouri counties in the future will prosper because of the Clover and Prosperity Campaign now in progress in Eastern Missouri. By means of this campaign farmers in about a dozen counties will be shown how to make clover and other legumes successful on their farms. This, of course, will provide good clover pasture for pigs. They will thrive and prosper as a result, and so will their owners. Experiments conducted at the Missouri Experiment Station show that pork can be produced much cheaper with good legume pasture, such as alfalfa, and clover than without it. For this one reason alone it is worth while for farmers to grow clover on their farms. The Clover and Prosperity Campaign will aid them in doing it.

AMERICAN ENGINEERS SHOW THE WAY

In no field of activity has the American engineer worked on a grander scale or with a greater breadth of vision than in the planning and erection of hydraulic works of the first magnitude. The great size of these works was not in the least determined by any vulgar striving after magnitude for its own sake.

Considerations of utility and the urge of public need were the impelling motives which led, for instance, to the erection in the Catskill Mountains of the Ashokan Dam, for the storage of 132,000,000,000 gallons of pure water, and the construction of 125 miles of aqueduct to lead this water into New York. It was the demand for greatly enlarged supply that determined the size of the 63,000,000-gallon Wachusett Reservoir for the supply of Boston. The engineers of San Francisco, foreseeing its future growth, are storing 113,000,000,000 gallons of water in the Yosemite region and building the aqueducts and pipe lines to convey this water, at the rate of 400,000,000 gallons a day.

Second in urgency to city water supply, but exceeding it in the magnitude of its hydraulic works, is the movement for the reclamation of arid lands, whose success stands and will forever stand, as a testimonial to the forethought and energy of Theodore Roosevelt. Great as are the reservoirs built for city water supply, they are modest in capacity when compared with the projects of the reclamation service.

At the head of the list is Elephant Butte, New Mexico, with a storage capacity of 863,000,000 gallons; Roosevelt can store 425,000,000,000; Pathfinder, 327,000,000,000, and Jackson Lake, 254,000,000,000.

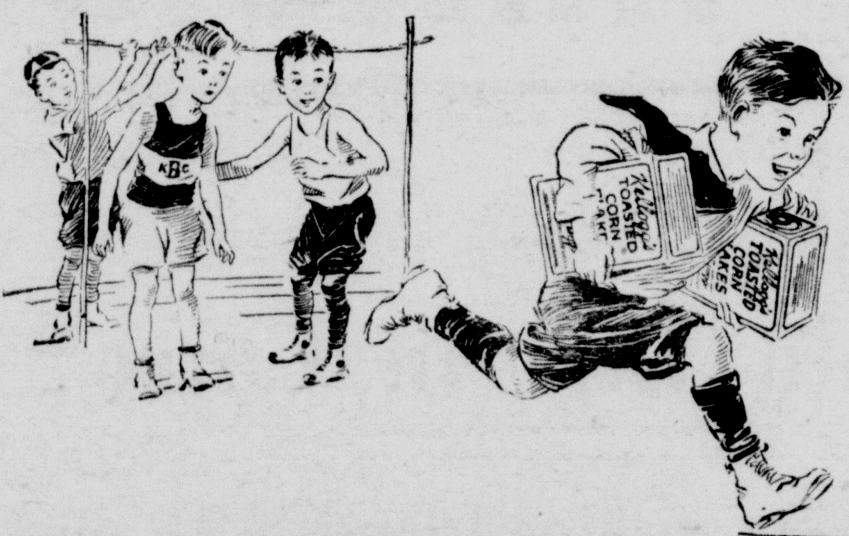

There are, altogether, a dozen reservoirs with a capacity exceeding 100,000,000,000.

Vast as these dams are they will be dwarfed when some of the proposed works for the regulation of the Colorado River have been constructed.—Scientific American.

Several sections of the county have been reported as having trouble with grasshoppers eating their cotton. This occurs when the hay crop has been cut, and this insect goes into the corn and cotton fields and does a great deal of damage. It is not a difficult matter to get rid of the grasshopper and no doubt it will pay a farmer where this infestation shows up, to use poison bait. The following mixture will destroy the grasshopper: To 25 pounds of wheat bran add 1 pound of Paris green or white arsenic. Mix thoroughly while both the bran and Paris green are dry. Mix in a separate container at least 3 gallons of water with 6 well ground lemons or oranges and 2 quarts of cheap sirup or molasses. Take this mixture and make a dough of the bran and Paris green. Scatter this over the area where the grasshoppers are at work. This should be scattered very early in the morning. This is a poisonous bait and it will destroy anything that eats it.—Caruthersville Democrat.

HERE'S PLACE WHERE IT WAS 134 IN SHADE
The highest shade temperature ever registered in the free air is 134 degrees, which occurred on Furnace Creek at the eastern edge of Death Valley, Cal. By an odd coincidence the name of this nearest approach to Hades is Greenland Ranch, which is a long way from the Greenland shown in school geographies near the North Pole. Weather bureau authorities state that as there is a great deal of irrigated land about Greenland Ranch it is entirely possible still high temperatures may occur farther down in Death Valley, but no one has ever had the nerve to carry a set of standard instruments that far to test the matter.

For six days during this super-heated period at Greenland Ranch afternoon temperatures rose above 126 degrees and the thermometer never fell lower than 85 degrees at night. Afternoon temperatures reach 100 degrees or higher on an average of 140 days every year at this place and rise to 120 degrees, an average of fifteen days a year.

Heated spells in the corn belt make it look like a summer resort in comparison with those temperatures, but the weather bureau, with its hundreds of sets of thermometers distributed over the country and a record that extends back many years, has obtained official extremes of hot weather that are worth mentioning.

Kansas, Missouri, Arkansas and Oklahoma each has a record of 116 degrees, as its high mark. In Kansas this occurred at Clay Center and Hugoton June 25, 1911, and again at Farnsworth, near Healy, July 13, 1913—three days after the Death Valley record was established.

In Missouri the high record occurred at Marble Hill, Bollinger County, July 22, 1901, and in Oklahoma the record was established at Wagoner, July 16, 1901, at Bush July 24, 1903, and at Chickasha July 30, 1919. Arkansas' highest temperature occurred at Jonesboro July 12, 1901. Nebraska's record for torrid weather is 115 degrees at Fremont August 4, 1918, and Iowa's is 113 degrees at Sigourney July 22, 1901, and at Clarinda.

At the same time imports increased from 7,600,000 to 27,400,000 pounds.

Mrs. D. B. Riley returned Sunday from Jackson, where she spent two weeks visiting her daughter, Mrs. Paul Mueller.

Attorney C. S. Hale and County Surveyor A. N. Barnett of Morehouse were in New Madrid Monday looking after business.

W. S. Korn, Conductor on Cotton Belt, stationed at Paragould, Ark., came up Sunday to spend the Fourth with home-folks.

Misses Mabel Mecklen and Sarah Allen, students of Teachers College, Cape Girardeau, spent the Fourth with home-folks.

Prosecuting Attorney J. C. McDowell, accompanied by his wife and daughter, was transacting business at the Court House, Friday.

The members of the local Masonic order have decided to repair and paint the Masonic Hall, later on, they expect to erect a new building.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Hensley of Columbia, arrived the first of the week on a visit to the latter's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Mathewson of this city.

Miss Nadine and Ella Hunter returned home from St. Louis, where they attended Loretta College. They were accompanied by Miss Marie Hart.

Mrs. S. J. Smalley went to Memphis Saturday, where she met her two little niece, Jane and Helen Louise Barnes of Forest City, Ark., who will spend some time with her this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Pinnel have rented the house on Main street, now occupied by Dr. and Mrs. McKinney. Dr. McKinney and family still intend to make New Madrid their home and he will still occupy the same office.

Quite a number of the New Madrid people attended the Southeast Missouri picnic at the home of Judge Caveror, near Canalou. A great number of the Southeast Missouri counties were represented. The program was carried out by the county agents and an address was made by Mrs. C. C. Schuttler of Farmington.

Miss Ruth Peavler was the charming hostess to a number of friends last Thursday evening with a "bunking party" at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hampton in this city. Those present were Misses Margaret Carrigan, Willa Richardson, Henrietta Sutton, Martha Broughton, Ance Oglesby and Lois Willett.

A miscellaneous shower was given Mr. W. R. Pinnel, Wednesday afternoon at the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. S. L. Hunter, Jr. The shower which consisted of many useful and beautiful gifts of wearing apparel and gifts for the home was a surprise to Mrs. Pinnel. Mr. and Mrs. Pinnel had the misfortune of losing their home near Marston by fire, last week, and the shower was an expression of their sympathy and kindness. There were about 50 guests present. Several musical numbers were rendered and delicious refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

Mary Agnes, age 2 years and 5 months, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Frye of McComb, Ill., died Monday, July 3rd at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. L. S. Reed in this city. The little one had not been here but for a short time, having returned home with her grandmother about three weeks ago. About ten days ago she was taken ill with a fever, but all that medical assistance and kind friends could do, were of no avail. Her little spirit was wafted to the haven of rest. The mother was notified of her illness and was with her child at the passing. The father did not reach here only in time for the funeral, which was held from billy-blow-up, it puffs itself out when C. B. Richards undertaking parlor and caught.

Strange Fish

The angler, or fishing-frog, with its mouth almost as wide as its body is long, is one of the queerest of fishes. On its back it has a number of thread-like appendages which other fish think are the small organisms which form their food.

Before they have discovered their mistake they have fallen a prey to the frog, which does not miss much, with such a capacious mouth. Its appetite, too, is enormous; for in the stomach of one as many as 75 herrings were found!

The sea-horse of Australia lives among seaweeds, being camouflaged by a floating fringe resembling the weeds, which enables it to lure its prey close enough to be captured.

Another instance of camouflage to obtain food is that of a prawn and a small fish which live inside the mouth of a gigantic anemone. They are both white, with red lines, and these colors act as a snare to numerous small creatures which the anemone kills, and all three have a share in the spoils.

There is a family of fish to which the climbing perch of India belongs. They are constantly in and out of the water, and often travel overland. In the rainy season they pass from stream to stream and from pool to pool. When the hot weather comes they bury themselves in mud, from which they emit a gurgling sound. If put in an aquarium they will escape if they are not covered in.

The callichthys, found in the rivers of tropical America and the West Indies, cannot live for more than a quarter of an hour under water, and has to rise to the surface to breathe. It has been known to live for five days entirely out of water.

The peripetalmus, common on the shores of Indian and Australian seas, frequent roots of mangrove trees. When arrested it lies with its body out of the water, the tail only being immersed, and it goes ashore in search of food.

The blenny quite commonly leaves the water, apparently liking plenty of air to breathe.

In South African waters swims a fish something like a toad, and called for the funeral, which was held from billy-blow-up, it puffs itself out when C. B. Richards undertaking parlor and caught.

Richards have a wonderful sense of smell, and can detect a favorite food, consisting of the spores of olive seaweed, fully twenty to thirty miles away, especially after spawning, when they are thin and ravenous.

Children will often eat more bread if different kinds are served, especially for the basket lunch at school or the hot school lunch, says the United States Department of Agriculture. Sometimes so simple a change as baking the bread in a new form—a twist, for example, instead of a loaf—or cutting bread and butter in a fancy shape with a cookie cutter will increase a child's relish for it. So, too, will a change of flavor, obtained by adding a few raisins, dried currants, or nut meats.

Washington, July 5.—The Republican petition for cloture, to shut off debate on the administration tariff bill, was presented late today in the Senate. It immediately provoked a bitter fight which promised to consume much of the session tomorrow. Under the rules the issue must come to a vote at noon on Friday.

There were fifty-two signatures to the petition or twelve less than the two-thirds majority necessary to invoke the existing cloture rule, which would limit debate on the bill to one hour for each Senator and preclude the offering of any additional amendments, even by the Finance Committee majority.

All except eight of the sixty Republicans in the Senate signed the petition. These eight were La Follette, Norris, Johnson, Moses, Borah, Brandegee, Crow and Weller. Immediately the petition was presented by Chairman McCumber of the Finance Committee it brought a protest from Senator Underwood of Alabama, the Democratic leader.

"The idea of discussing 1000 amendments in sixty minutes!" he exclaimed. "Gentlemen on the other side had better suggest that we have no further debate."

Senator Robinson (Dem.), Arkansas, in a vigorous speech, raised the issue of good faith in the presentation of the petition.

"This bill in the form presented by the Finance Committee is beaten," he shouted. "Is there a Senator who doesn't know that on that side of the chamber (the Republican side) there is a growing feeling of disgust that is threatening the defeat of the bill?"

"It's beaten in the public conscience. This petition for cloture is presented as pure buncombe and some signers of the petition would be glad to see the bill abandoned. Everywhere in primary contests where it has been made an issue, its proponents have met with disaster. The press of the country is against it almost unanimously."

Senator Lodge replied that the petition had been offered in "absolute good faith."

"If any Senator doubts that it was offered in good faith, let him vote for it and see if we do not pull it thru," said the majority leader. "If they (the Democrats) think this tariff is beaten, why don't they bring it to a vote? They know it is not beaten."

"We believe the country demands action, prompt action on this bill," Senator Underwood responded that it was not possible to agree to a time to vote on a bill which still was being amended by the Finance Committee, as opponents could not know what amendments would be presented or whether portions now satisfactory would be changed later.

Majority leaders in charge of the bill were warned today by Senator Lenroot (Rep.), Wisconsin, leader of the Progressive group, that unless some of the high duties proposed in the tariff bill were brought down to within reason he would reserve the right to vote against the measure.

Senator Lenroot's announcement came at the close of an address opposing the duty of 15 cents a pound on unshelled almonds, which he declared to be unjustified on the showing both of Senators Johnson and Shortridge (Rep.), California, and Almond Growers' Association of California in favor of the rate.

The Wisconsin Senator said he was in favor of protection, but added that he had "no sympathy with the system" that seems to prevail here that if the interests of a person in a Senator's state demand exorbitant duties that Senator can go and ask for and receive those duties, and then because of the interrelationship of duties throughout the bill that Senator will vote for every increase that is proposed."

Senator Johnson, in a fiery reply to the Wisconsin Senator, declared he was casting his vote as between the almond growers who were selling at a loss and candy manufacturers who were making 300 per cent profits and fighting the rate on almonds.

The California Senator said he had seen Senator Lenroot sit here day after day and vote for ad valorem duties higher than the ad valorem equivalent to the specific rate on almonds. He added that the almond growers were asking for the 15 cents duty in order to live, "not to reap 300 per cent profits as the confectioners are making."

The committee amendment carrying the 15 cents a pound rate on almonds finally was approved, 39 to 18. Two Republicans, La Follette and Lenroot, voted against it, and three Democrats, Ashurst, Broussard and Kendrick, supported it.

An amendment by Senator Walsh (Dem.), of Massachusetts, to make the rate 6 cents a pound was rejected, 14 to 17. Senator La Follette was the only Republican to support it, while two Democrats, Ashurst and Kendrick, voted against it.

Without roll call the Senate approved these rates:

Limes and oranges, 1 cent per pound; grapefruit, one-half cent per pound; raisins, 2½ cents a pound; currants, 2 cents per pound; dates, fresh or dried, 1 cent per pound, prepared or preserved, 40 per cent and valorem.

Republican leaders on the reconvening of the Senate today were prepared to present their petition for the invoking of the cloture rule to curb debate on the tariff bill. Although between fifty-five and sixty Republicans have signed the petition, majority leaders said it was improbable that the necessary two-thirds vote for cloture could be obtained when the motion is voted on, probably this Friday. Under the rules the motion must lie over a day before a vote is taken. While several Democrats were said to favor cloture, the minority were expected to line up against it.

Although expecting defeat of the cloture move, Republican leaders said it would at least demonstrate a desire on the part of the majority to bring the tariff measure to an early vote. If the move failed and substantial progress was not made on the bill, they were prepared, they said, to lay it aside and make a fight for doption of the proposed new cloture rule, recommended recently by two Republican conferences, to invoke cloture by a majority instead of a two-thirds vote.

Southeast Missouri Picnic Well Attended.

More than 1000 people attended the Southeast Missouri Farm Bureau picnic given at the farm of Judge Caveno at Canolou. Most of the people came in cars, and a large number of people came by train to Morehouse, Canolou and Matthews, where they were conveyed by the people of those towns to the picnic.

A horseshoe pitching tournament and athletic events occupied the time in the morning. The counties entering the horse shoe tournament were Cape Girardeau, Butler, Pemiscot, New Madrid, Mississippi and Scott. The games were pitched with the official shoes, and were conducted by two umpires and a scorer. Mississippi County team won the tournament and the prize of $10.00 in trade in the retail department of Himmelberger-Harrison Lumber Co., Morehouse. The team winning second was Cape Girardeau County and the prize was a box of cigars given by T. C. Smith Confectionery, Morehouse, Mo. New Madrid won third and a sack of flour given by the Liggett Merc. Co., of New Madrid. Mississippi County team was composed of Rowe and Duval, Cape County of Schwear and Stonner and New Madrid of J. A. Engle and W. W. Fralick.

The athletics and stunts for fun making was pleasing to old and young. Such events as running, jumping and ball throwing were the main features. The following business houses of Morehouse awarded prizes: T. C. Smith Confectionery, Bank of Morehouse, J. E. Parmley, W. O. Mason, George Boone, Morehouse Grain & Supply Co., L. J. Gray, Givens & Parrish, Peoples Bank, John Shoulters, E. F. Walden, Phillp Banks, Morehouse Drug Co., O. M. Headlee, Himmelberger-Harrison Lumber Co., C. L. Sullivan. The following business houses in New Madrid awarded prizes:

Newsum & Mitchell, Dawson Grocery Co., Manheimer, Commercial Trust Co., Frankle Store, H. Buchert, Hummels Drug Co., Red Crown Filling Station, Latham & Lewis Drug Co., and Liggett Mercantile Co.

Everyone enjoyed the basket dinner and the good shade that was afforded by the splendid grove. Soon after dinner the speaking program was begun. C. M. Brandt, of the Southeast Missouri Teachers' College lead the community singing, which everyone enjoyed. Judge Caveno introduced the speakers on the program. John A. Montgomery, president of the Southeast Agricultural Bureau, gave a splendid address on the purposes of the organization which he represents. People were loud in their praise of address given by Mrs. C. C. Shuttler, chairman of the Womans' Committee of the American Farm Bureau Federation. C. B. Denman, President of the Live Stock Producers' Commission Co., National Stock Yards, Ill., gave farmers an interesting talk on co-operative marketing of live stock, and impressed on them the necessity of going to the market with their live stock through their own organization, in order to be able to talk prices to the packers.

The program on the whole was enjoyed by all and many expressed the desire that it should be an annual affair for Southeast Missouri.

Dr. P. M. Malcolm came near losing an eye by the accidental placing of carbolic acid on the lid after a sty had been opened. Sunday morning he called on one of his fellow practitioners to open the festured place on the lid and while dressing same a drop or two of carbolic acid was put on the lid instead of another wash or dress. As quick as possible pure alcohol was used to wash off the acid, but not until Dr. Malcolm was painfully burned. Monday morning he went to Cairo to consult a specialist and it is believed and hoped that the sight of the eye will not be affected. It was an unfortunate mistake. CONTRACTOR DRINKS CARBOLIC ACID

Benton, July 5.—John Warner, dredging contractor, took his life at an early hour this morning by drinking carbolic acid. He was found in the barn at 5 o'clock by Mrs. Warner, who immediately summoned a doctor and friends. Life was ebbing and he succumbed a short while later. It is believed that he drank the acid just a short while before Mrs. Warner found him. No inquest was considered necessary.

Worry over business affairs was said to have been responsible for him committing the act. He had several dredging contracts under way in New Madrid County and it is reported that these contracts were proving unsuccessful financially.

Warner was one of the best known men in Southeast Missouri, having made many friends since coming to this section about 20 years ago. His former home was in Dayton, Ohio.

Friends of his stated today that while they knew his business affairs were causing him much worry lately, he was usually in a jovial mood and no suspicions had been aroused that he planned self-destruction.

Warner was 55 years old and leaves his wife and five children to mourn his death. All the children are at home, except the eldest daughter, who is in Dayton attending school.—Cape Southeast Missourian.

Long For Senator

Senator James A. Reed voted for the declaration of war against Germany. When war had been declared, then everybody but Jim Reed and his handful of followers was for the measures that would make it the briefest war possible; such measures being the draft, food and industrial control and general mobilization of men and resources. Long before the war closed President Wilson declared with the universal approval of the country, that there must be formed an organization of the nations of the earth to prevent the recurrence of another such ghastly calamity as the world war.

As soon as the armistice was declared, the terms of which were related by President Wilson and provided for such an organization, the president began with all the energy of his nature the task of bringing together the nations of the world except the Bolshevik government of Russia, the Turks and the Mexicans, and the United States.

And why did not the United States join in this great humanitarian organization? Because the Republicans had gotten control of congress and under the leadership of Lodge and Will Hays, aided by Jim Reed, entered upon a campaign having for its battle cry, "Destroy Wilson and all his works". This campaign was begun immediately upon the signing of the Armistice and was conducted in public by Lodge and Reed and their followers with a virulence heretofore unknown in the history of the country, and in private by Will Hays and the emissaries of the Republican National Committee, in what is now known as the "Whispering Campaign", conducted on railroad trains, in hotel lobbies and in the camps of the soldiers.

This nefarious campaign, with these three men as the out-standing leaders was kept up while President Wilson was struggling to keep faith at the council table in Paris, while he was pleading with his countrymen, while he lay for months on a bed of pain, up 'till presidential election of 1920. This is one of the reasons why we are opposed to James A. Reed for Senator. There are others.—Mexico Ledger.

Look whos coming. Baby Mary, that child wonder. With Billy Terrell's comedians all next week.

Rev. Thos. B. Mather and the Scouts are planning a camping trip at Bufordsville. They will leave here on July 24 and will be gone until the 28th. About forty Scouts will go and as they will need plenty to eat, any of the good citizens of Sikeston who wish to donate eatables, the Scouts will certainly appreciate it. Anyone wishing to donate, will kindly phone Rev. Mather.

Mrs. Kate Harris and daughters, Miss Audrey, Lydia Chaney and Margaret Harris motored to Cape Girardeau for the Fourth. Mrs. Louis Houck of the Cape returned with them for a few days visit.

Mrs. Nattie Auberschon, mother of Mrs. F. O. Baldwin, formerly of this city, died suddenly at her home in Coffman, Mo., Sunday. The remains were buried at Cape Girardeau.

T. W. Lewis, operator at the Western Union office, has been transferred to a similar position at Havre, Montana. C. D. Williams of Cape Girardeau takes the position vacated by Mr. Lewis.

ATTY. GEN. BARRETT SPEAKS AT SIKESTON

Two of the Republican candidates for United States Senate have recently spoken in Sikeston, Mr. Brewster to a house of less than 60, and Mr. Barrett to a crowd estimated at 200. The Standard editor was unable to attend the Brewster speaking, but was present to hear Mr. Barrett. More than half of the Barrett audience were Democrats. He was introduced by Attorney Bailey, who highly recommended Mr. Barrett. The first part of the address was a good Democratic speech and was indorsed by Democrats and Republicans alike. This was his alluding to the centralizing of too much power in Washington and taking away States' rights. The part that we could not agree with him was the wonderful accomplishments of the Republican administration in the short time they have been in power. Mr. Barrett explained the extraordinary situation in Stoddard County, where the Republican prosecuting attorney, not being an active lawyer, called for assistance and was given Judge Fort, a Democrat. Judge Fort immediately proceeded to clean up the bootleggers and a howl was raised. Mr. Barrett can rest assured that the law abiding people of Stoddard County will not hold that against him in the Senatorial race. The speaker was quite certain that the Republican nominee for Senator would be elected this fall and was just as sure that he would be the man. The Standard believes Mr. Barrett to be the top of the State Republican administration and an officer who will perform his duty as he sees it without fear or favor.

WOMAN'S DEMOCRATIC CLUB REORGANIZED

The meeting held by the Democratic women in the City Hall Wednesday afternoon, was a success in every way. Mrs. L. O. Rodes was re-elected chairman, and Mrs. W. S. Way was elected Vice-Chairman and Miss Audrey Chaney, Secretary-Treasurer.

Every woman, who is a Democrat, is urged to attend the next meeting, which will be held in the City Hall, Monday afternoon, July 10, at 4 o'clock and join the club or give their name to someone who is a member. There will be a county meeting held in Benton on Saturday, July 8th and as many ladies who possibly can are urged to attend.

somewhere down the road to talk to the millennium that prohibition promised us.—Columbia Record.Mrs. Mary Pettiter, of St. Louis, complained to the police that in a fight with her landlord she was bitten on the leg. All this happened because she was unable to pay her rent.Senator Lodge of Massachusetts is the man who really will be vindicated
if the Anti-Wilson campaign wins in Missouri. Lodge was the leader and the brains of the fight on the former president. James M. Cox contends that history will record him as the greatest conspirator America has ever known. If James A. Reed is renominated in August it will be a vindication for Lodge and an endorsement by Missouri Democrats of the co-operation Reed gave him and his Senate organization.—Paris Appeal.GET RID OF REED PLATFORM ADOPTEDFollowing is the platform adopted by the "Association of Missouri Women Opposed to James A. Reed:"We, the Association of Missouri Women Opposed to James A. Reed, whose members became affiliated with the Democratic party in 1920 because of the constructive social, economic and political ideals of the Democratic party, do reaffirm our adherence and loyalty to these declarations.And we here record our unalterable hostility to the candidacy of Jas.
A. Reed for the Democratic nomination of United States Senator. We urge this defeat because he has mocked, scorned, ridiculed and vilified the policies of his own party, and because we view his obstructive purposes as menaces to genuine social and political progress. We consider Mr. Reed so wedded to the forces of political reaction that we regard his services in the Senate or his presence in public life as an open affront to progressive citizenship.We invite the attention of the Democratic women of Missouri to Mr.
Reed's stand upon every question in which the women of the land have been concerned since he became a member of the Senate. He has consistently maintained a supercilious attitude—sneering, insulting and contemptuous, in his treatment of public measures advocated by women. We granted Mr. Reed's right to hold opinions contrary to ours, and to oppose the views of his colleague in the Senate, but we deny his fitness for high office when plainly he is too often dominated by malice and pique. In his opposition to the suffrage amendment, he was one of the most audacious foes of the enfranchisement of our sex. He pretended in Congress and now pretends, that he opposed the Federal suffrage amendment because he believed that the states alone should have control in the determination of the question. Yet in Missouri he was as hostile to suffrage as he was insulting during the debates in Washington. In the Senate, on September 28, 1918, he referred to the representatives of American women then present exercising the right of petition and pleading for civic recognition, as "female lobbyists" and "the petticoat brigade". He spoke for hours on this occasion while the galleries of the Senate were filled with women from every state in the Union.He opposed in the same insulting manner the passage of the Sheppard-Towner bill, a measure for the protection of maternity and infant life, and characterized the supporters of such legislation as "cranks", "dreamers", "socialists", "bolshheviks", "a band of spinsters". It is well known this legislation was demanded by innumerable influential organizations of women in the United States and by hundreds of thousands of the mothers of the land. Despite his position, when Mr. Reed again became a candidate for the Senate he undertook to claim at Cape Girardeau, on May 10, 1922, that he had been instrumental in improving the maternity bill by in-serting the amendment "to protect the home". As a matter of fact, the provision he describes was inserted in the House of Representatives and he had nothing at all to do with its adoption. We repudiate his much-exploited tribute to motherhood as pharisaical and misleading when considered in connection with his public record.He makes public pretense of friendship for labor, yet when a bill was pending in the Senate to protect the lives and health and morals of women and minor workers in the District of Columbia, and fix a minimum wage for such work, Mr. Reed opposed it with vehemence, claiming that the wages paid to such class of labor were greater than the labor was worth.He opposed the food control act, devoting days of the Senate's time to attacks on the food conservation policies of the war administration at a time when the mothers and housewives of America were gladly making the most extreme sacrifices in order that our boys in training camps and fields at home and in the trenches abroad might be properly fed.He made open denunciation of profitteering for public consumption, but interposed vindictive speeches and hostile vote wherever and whenever Congress sought to curb the profiteer.
His speeches in the Senate on the food administration were made and apparently designed to create dissension and division at a time when the loyal citizens of the United States were seeking to win the war by united front.The strident voice of the Missouri Senator was a most disturbing element as the war proceeded and his speeches were read with cynical satisfaction by the enemies of our country at home and abroad.In his fight upon food control, food conservation and laws against food profiteering, he sought to break down
the leadership of America's Commander in Chief and inflame the people against his conduct of the war.His fanatical opposition to all plans for international co-operation with a view to the attainment of disarmament and world peace cannot be forgiven. His utterances on this subject in the Senate are violations of every principle of international comity and official propriety. They are marked by infinite contempt for the lofty ideals underlying mankind's desire for a world at peace.His treatment of Woodrow Wilson we regard as beyond palliation. We condemn Mr. Reed, not because he opposed the President, but because, in our opinion, Mr. Reed was wrong and the President was right. Throughout the war, in his attacks upon food control, food conservation, laws against profiteering and many other outstanding measures whereby success was assured to American and allied arms, Mr. Reed misrepresented, opposed and fought Woodrow Wilson. And when the war was won, and peace was in the making, he falsely charged that the President had entered into a "secret protocol" in violation of the American Constitution, and made speeches throughout the country in which his references to Woodrow Wilson were gross in their quality of insult. Later, he continued his vicious personal attacks, even though Woodrow Wilson lay wounded in his fight for world peace and at the point of death.Mr. Reed has served nearly twelve years in the Senate, and yet there is not a single piece of legislation that bears his name. There is not a single achievement to his credit—there is only a record of hostility and opposition. His position on matters affecting the interests of women is not essentially different from his position on other public questions. The eloquence that has made him something of an outstanding figure, he uses for destructive purposes, and debases to unworthy ends. He consistently opposes the expressed wishes of his constituents and duly elected party representatives—and now calls upon his party to return him to power! His force is negative. His course is to destroy and never to build. He is temperamentally and by training unfit for public service.We condemn him unreservedly and appeal to the Democratic voters of Missouri to rid us of Reed.
We pledge our support in the senatorial primary to Breckenridge Long,
who is committed to the constructive social, economic and political ideals and policies of the Democratic party.
Mr. Long has to his credit a four-year record of constructive and devoted service in the State Department during the most arduous period in the history of America and the world.
He is a close student of political, economic and international law. Moreover, he understands and is in sympathy with impulses and aspirations of forward-looking men and women everywhere. With Mr. Long in the Senate, Missouri can depend upon sane, constructive and progressive representation in the epoch-making period of reconstruction that faces the world.

Girl Scouts

When Sir Robert Baden-Powell
founded the Boy Scout movement in England, it proved too attractive and too well adapted to youth to make it possible to limit its great opportunities to boys alone. The sister organization, known in England as the Girl Guides, quickly followed and won an equal success.Mrs. Juliette Low, an American visitor in England and a personal friend of the Father of Scouting, realized the tremendous future of the movement for her own country, and with the active and friendly co-operation of the Baden-Powell's, she founded the Girl Guides in America, enrolling
the first patrols in Savannah, Georgia, in March, 1912. In 1915 National Headquarters were established in Washington, D. C. and the name was changed to Girl Scouts.In 1916 National Headquarters were moved to New York and the methods and standards of what was plainly to be a nation-wide organization became established on a broad practical basis.
There are 82,990 girl and more 3,600
scoutmaster represent the original little troop in Savannah.The Girl Scouts, a National organization, is open to any girl who expresses her desire to join and voluntarily accepts the Promise and the Laws.The object of the Girl Scouts is to bring to all girls the opportunity for group experience, out-door life and to learn through work, but more through play, to serve their community.Officers: Founder, Mrs. Juliette

Speaking the Public Mind

St. Louis, Mo., June 27, 1922.
As a life-long Democrat, and an old citizen of Boonville, will you allow me to speak a word upon the senatorial situation and in behalf of Breckenridge Long?I have known Mr. Long for many years, and I can truthfully say he is a citizen of whom we are all proud;
he is a Democrat of the unflinching type, he is a lawyer who stands high in his profession, and is splendidly equipped for the high position he seeks. No Missouri Democrat stands higher in the party ranks at home and abroad than he. His services were sought as the chairman of the National Democratic Committee, an honor which goes only to our most distinguished statesman. He is a native Missourian, who loves his state and people. The only objection Mr.
Reed has found against him is he married a woman of wealth, and that his election would mean we would have another millionaire in the senate. Mr. Reed seems to have forgotten that in 1920 he stumped the state in behalf of Sam Priest for the senatorial nomination, while he, Priest, is the leading corporation lawyer of this city, and is reputed to be a multimillionaire. It speaks well for Mr.
Long that even Mr. Reed who is a master of invective and vituperation can find nothing against him, but the fact that Mrs. Long was left a small fortune at the death of her lamented father. Mr. Reed's repudiation of our platform in 1920, his war upon our beloved ex-president, his defiance
of the wishes of our party, his campaign in another state in behalf of a Republican candidate for senator as against the Democratic nominee, his reference to Mr. Wilson as a jackass, and an international poker player, and his stigmatizing of Mr. Wilson's guests as White House cats, wants far to lose us our state and to demoralize the party throughout the whole country. His nomination now would mean the destruction of our organization in this state, and it would bring about discouragement and confusion everywhere. We would be without a party organization, without leaders, and without hope. He would not stand upon our platform,
and could not consistently support
any of our candidates. It is not surprising, therefore, that Republicans knowing this are every county in the state working enthusiastically for his renomination. He has done us all the harm he should be allowed to do us, and I appeal to all good Democrats who love their party, who are proud of its record in this state, to do all in their power to avert the calamity his nomination would cause us.—LON V. STEPHENSWhat is conceded by local cattle men to be the largest deal of its kind in the history of Central Missouri has just been completed by Earl Carter, J. T. Johnson and D. W. Mason of Mexico, says the Ledger. They recently purchased 2,110 head of Hereford cattle which cost around $76,000 and have now been disposed of to farmers of this section. The cattle required 45 cars and the freight was over $5,000. The cattle were purchased in Girard, Texas. The men who bought them from the shippers are feeding mostly for fall market, though a few are preparing their purchases for shipment during the summer. Among those near Centralia who bought cattle and the number purchased are Joe Considine 77, J. H. Neill 50, W. D.
McDonald 40, T. C. Carter 61.

Regulations For Flying the Flag

1. The flag should not be raised before sunrise nor be allowed to remain up after sunset. It should not be displayed on stormy days, or left out over night, except during war. To leave the flag out at night, unattended, is proof of shiftlessness, or at least carelessness.2. In placing the flag at half mast,
it should first be raised to full mast,
and then lowered to half mast position from which it should again be raised to full mast before lowering.

3. The flag should never be draped.

4. When the flag is hung against the wall, the blue field should be in the upper left corner if the stripes
or horizontal; in the upper right corner if the stripes are vertical.5. The flags of two or more nations displayed together should always be hung at the same level and should be on separate staffs.6. The flag at half mast is a sign of mourning.7. The flag flown upside down is a signal of distress.8. On Memorial Day, May 30, the flag is flown at half mast during the morning, and is raised at noon to full mast for the rest of the day.The fur seal industry of the Pribilof Island yields the United States government from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000

Mr. and Mrs. Hiltzley and sister, Miss Maude Hiltzley, of Malden, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Emory Sunday morning.

The Fourth of July was very pleasantly and quietly spent in Matthews. A large number of our citizens going to Morehouse, East Prairie, La Forge and Canolou.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Emory and two children, Mr. and Mrs. Hiltzley and sister, Miss Maude Hiltzley of Malden, motored to East Prairie Sunday afternoon and visited relatives.

Mrs. Frank Ratcliff surprised her little daughter Barbara, with a party Sunday afternoon from 4 to 6, the occasion being her 10th birthday. The following little folks were present: Madge Mainord, Gracie Surface, Irene Shelton, Ruby Higgs, Ada and Lucy Deane, Lillian and Leola Spalding, Edna Latham and Madge Arnold, of Sikeston. Refreshments of ice cream and cake and candy were served to the young folks.

W. H. Deane, constable of Big Prairie township, after a considerable chase, arrested Erba Glenn, who had cut up one Charles Cathie, on Monday evening, July 3rd. Glenn had been hiding since the cutting affray. Deane located the fugitive in a thicket of bushes, on the fourth ditch Wednesday evening and brought him to Matthews, where he waived a preliminary examination and was put under a $300 bond, which was furnished by Charles Byser. Cathie's wounds are not considered serious. The difficulty arose over an ugly rumor about Cathie's aunt.

The King Supply Store at Matthews was broken into on Tuesday night, July 4th, and around $150 worth of pants, shoes, overalls, dress shirts and pocket knives were taken. The cash register with about $8.00, Mr. King had taken in very late that evening, wasn't touched. Entrance was made through the back window, the sash being prized up by some stout piece of iron. The robbery was discovered the next morning when the Manager, Mr. Story, went down to open. The robbers used about three or four dozens packages of R. J. R. tobacco to kill the scent in order the proprietors should secure blood hounds. No clue up to now have been found.

COMMITTEE APPROVES WORLD DISARMAMENT

Paris, July 5.—World disarmament was declared by Lord Robert Cecil to have been brought definitely nearer today by the action of a subcommittee of the temporary mixed Commission on Disarmament of the League of Nations in approving his plan for armament reduction. The measure provides for a general reduction of air and land forces under the supervision of the League of Nations, as well as for continental alliance against aggression.

The subcommittee formally approved Lord Robert's plan and sent it back to the full commission. It is taken for granted that the commission will ratify the recommendation in its final session tomorrow.

The full commission yesterday approved the British plan for extending the Washington naval accord to all nations.

During today's discussion of land disarmament a French delegate said his government would want very definite provisions in the agreement so it would be known exactly what the country could depend upon in case of need. The Japanese member of the subcommission approved the general terms of the plan by declaring he did not believe alliances should be limited to continents, which point he illustrated by giving instances where forces from many countries have been used together as in the world war.

Lord Robert Cecil explained that no one would be barred from aiding a country which had been attacked, but the continental agreement limited the obligations to each country. All countries would be free to enter a defensive war. Hjalmar Branting, Sweden, on behalf of the smaller nations, expressed the view that they did not favor any further military obligations, and suggested that any reform must be slow and cautious.

No especial apprehension need be felt this year in regard to floods in the Columbia River. According to the Weather Bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture the Columbia River is on its good behavior, and will continue so unless hot spells melt the snow on the mountains too suddenly. The Willamette, which is affected by backwater from the Columbia, went to flood stage the 21st of May, but has caused no trouble thus far.

STATE CHILD LABOR STILL IN FORCE

Joseph Heytmann, of the Missouri Department Industrial Inspection, was in Sikeston during the week looking after matters for his bureau. He found the city in good sanitary condition and very few children under 14 years of age at work.

The State Industrial Inspection Department, in charge of Mrs. Alice Curcise Moyer-Wing, has found considerable difficulty since the federal child labor law was declared unconstitutional. Mrs. Wing states that the state child labor laws are still valid. Discussing the matter, Mrs. Wing said:

"The national law was an outgrowth of the wish to protect the children in the states most derelict in this direction and now the decision of its unconstitutionality has put the responsibility squarely upon each individual state, making each answerable to its own citizens—and half the citizens of the United States at present are women voters with the rights of the child looming big in their minds.

"The Missouri child labor laws are not, by any means, perfect. They need strengthening, but not a single one of them has been repealed and each and every one of them is being rigidly enforced by the State Industrial Inspection Department."

A short time ago Chas. Robertson, William Martin and J. O. Smith of Frankfort had a lot of hogs vaccinated. Mr. Robertson lost 107 out of the 110 he had vaccinated, Mr. Martin lost 44 out of 47 and Mr. Smith lost 42 out of the 45 he had vaccinated. The hogs died in a few hours after they were treated. Knowing that something was wrong, the owners of the hogs had the man who sold the serum come to Frankfort to investigate. The man said the government inspected his serum and sealed the packages. Mr. Robertson told the man he intended to have pay for the hogs he lost and expected him to do the paying. After considering the matter, the gentleman paid Messrs. Robertson, Martin and Smith for their hogs.—New London Record.

BLANKET BALLOT LAW AFFECTS THE VOTERS

Jefferson City, Mo., July 2.—The people of Missouri have learned to expect a new election law following the biennial session of the Legislature with as much certainty as they expect new road laws. They have not been disappointed within a lifetime. With quite as much certainty that a new road law will follow the adjournment of a session of the Legislature, that same unbroken rule can be made to do service in regard to new election laws.

Next November the voters of the state will cast their ballots under what is known as the "blanket ballot law". This piece of legislation is not an entire innovation. Back in the '90s a blanket ballot law was passed, but it did not meet with the approval of the next Legislature and was repealed and the ribbon ballot law installed.

There are a good many angles to the new blanket ballot law that are not to be found in the old one, scrapped by the Legislature after a single trial of one election, but the foundation is the same. The new law was boosted by State Senator David M. Proctor of Kansas City, who brought with him a number of election laws and acts regulating the constables and justices of the peace of Kansas City when he entered upon his first term as a State Senator, January, 1921. Now he is a Republican candidate for the nomination for United States Senator.

A "blanket ballot" means that all the names of the candidates, with the exception of presidential electors, must be printed upon a single sheet of white paper. This was a provision of the abandoned blanket ballot law. Under the new law, each party may designate an emblem for its ticket, provided it does not select the American flag. The caption of each ticket will contain the name of the party printed in capital letters.

The arrangement of the names of the state ticket for each party will be under the jurisdiction of the Secretary of State, but in the first column he is required to print the candidates of the party that polled the greatest number of votes for Governor at the past election. Under this provision the ticket to be voted upon in November will have the Republican ticket occupying the first column, the Democratic ticket second, the Socialist third, etc. Candidates nominated by petitions will occupy the last column.

Every ballot must contain the names of every candidate of all parties and these must be properly grouped under party names. Outside of the state and local tickets, no other names can appear upon the ballot save President and Vice President during presidential years. The various state committees are required to supply the Secretary of State with accurate information as to their party nominees.

Emblems to be used on state tickets are to be selected by the various party state committees. At the head of each ticket will appear a circular space in which the voter can place a cross or an "X" if he or she desires to vote a straight party ticket. However, this may be omitted without invalidating the ticket, and, in brief, to right to scratch is confirmed by the act. It is presumed that each voter will select his or her candidates and place a cross in a small white space in front of every name for whom the voter desires to vote. Writing in a name on a ballot, however, is permissible.

All ballots must be printed on plain white paper of sufficient thickness to conceal the printing, through the paper. There must be hair lines left in printing the tickets, for the benefit of those who may want to vote mixed tickets.

Where crosses are placed in the small white squares in front of the names of the candidates, these take precedence over a cross in the large circle at the head of the ticket, indicating a desire to vote the ticket straight.

There is a provision in the law applying to large cities with a registration—meaning St. Louis, Kansas City and St. Joseph—that will not be applied to the rural districts. To these cities it may mean much. The ballots are to be printed in books containing ten, fifty, one hundred or more tickets and with each ticket there must be a stub so printed that the names of the voter and the number of the ballots taken can be preserved after the ballots are handed out to the voters. The stubs, together with the unused ballots, the poll books, etc., are to be placed in the custody of the election commissioners by the judges and clerks of election.

In these cities a voter "must announce in an audible voice his or her name, residence", etc., so that the election officials and challengers may clearly know who desires the ticket. This provision was never in the old law, and in fact, none of the provisions of the new law relating solely to St. Louis, Kansas City and St. Joseph was in the old law.

There is a provision requiring seventy-five ballots to be printed for every fifty voters or fraction less than fifty voters in every precinct of the state. At the last general election there were some 3000 precincts in the state. This number will probably be augmented by 200 or 300 for the November election, since it is believed that a great many qualified women who did not vote in 1920 will vote in 1922.

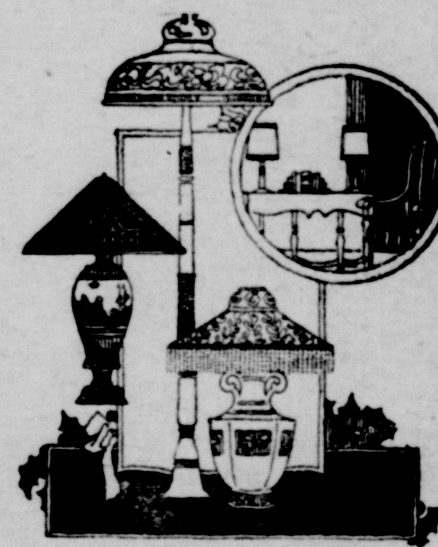

There will be five state tickets outside of any nominations that may be made by petitions. Most of the circuit judges and the local county officers will be to elect in November, and this will lengthen the ballot out beyond a Presidential year.

FUTURE HOUSEWIVES LEARN HOME-MAKING

Jefferson City, Mo., July 5.—"I consider the work of home-making as important as any work being done in our schools", said Sam A. Baker, State Superintendent of Schools, in a recent press interview. Supt. Baker declared that "the time and money being spent on the training we are giving our boys will much of it go to waste unless these boys are going in to the right kind of homes".

Supt. Baker said that one of the most important phases of present-day education is the training for home-making which is being given to girls and women in Missouri high schools. "When we consider the fact that eighty per cent of our girls will be home-makers and that more than fifty per cent of the income of the average American is expended by the housewife for clothing, food and shelter", remarked Baker, "we realize the need for this training, since there are more people engaged in the profession of home-making than in any other occupation in this country".

In tracing the development of vocational home economics education in Missouri for the last three years under the Smith-Hughes Act, which grants federal aid for this type of work, according to Baker, there were in 1918 but ten school offering this subject, with an enrollment of 240 students. For the year just closing, he stated, there were 39 high schools carrying on the work, with an enrollment of more than 1,250; 130 evening schools, with an enrollment of more than 3,000, and 35 part-time schools, with 520 enrolled, making a total of more than 4,000 girls and women receiving training in the job of home-making.

It is Supt. Baker's conviction that this phase of education has greatly vitalized the connection between the home and the school in every branch of the domestic arts, and its practical application is reflected in the growing demand by the schools of the state for vocational home economics.

AMERICAN ENGINEERS SHOW THE WAY

In no field of activity has the American engineer worked on a grander scale or with a greater breadth of vision than in the planning and erection of hydraulic works of the first magnitude. The great size of these works was not in the least determined by any vulgar striving after magnitude for its own sake.

Considerations of utility and the urge of public need were the impelling motives which led, for instance, to the erection in the Catskill Mountains of the Ashokan Dam, for the storage of 132,000,000,000 gallons of pure water, and the construction of 125 miles of aqueduct to lead this water into New York. It was the demand for greatly enlarged supply that determined the size of the 63,000,000,000-gallon Wachusett Reservoir for the supply of Boston. The engineers of San Francisco, foreseeing its future growth, are storing 113,000,000,000 gallons of water in the Yosemite region and building the aqueducts and pipe lines to convey this water, at the rate of 400,000,000 gallons a day.

Second in urgency to city water supply, but exceeding it in the magnitude of its hydraulic works, is the movement for the reclamation of arid lands, whose success stands and will forever stand, as a testimonial to the forethought and energy of Theodore Roosevelt. Great as are the reservoirs built for city water supply, they are modest in capacity when compared with the projects of the reclamation service.

At the head of the list is Elephant Butte, New Mexico, with a storage capacity of 863,000,000,000 gallons; Roosevelt can store 425,000,000,000; Pathfinder, 327,000,000,000, and Jackson Lake, 254,000,000,000.

There are, altogether, a dozen reservoirs with a capacity exceeding 100,000,000,000.

Vast as these dams are they will be dwarfed when some of the proposed works for the regulation of the Colorado River have been constructed. —Scientific American.

Cucumber growers in Florida, South Carolina, and North Carolina are evincing much interest in the permissive standards for cucumbers recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture. A number of marketing associations have adopted the grades and are labeling packages with the grade name. Federal inspection at destination is also being made.

Several sections of the county have been reported as having trouble with grasshoppers eating their cotton. This occurs when the hay crop has been cut and this insect goes into the corn and cotton fields and does a great deal of damage. It is not a difficult matter to get rid of the grasshopper and no doubt it will pay a farmer where this infestation shows up, to use poison bait. The following mixture will destroy the grasshopper: To 25 pounds of wheat bran add 1 pound of Paris green or white arsenic. Mix thoroughly while both the bran and Paris green are dry. Mix in a separate container at least 3 gallons of water with 6 well ground lemons or oranges and 2 quarts of cheap sirup or molasses. Take this mixture and make a dough of the bran and Paris green. Scatter this over the area where the grasshoppers are at work. This should be scattered very early in the morning. This is a poisonous bait and it will destroy anything that eats it. —Caruthersville Democrat.

FISK AND ASH HILL MELON GROWERS ARE STRONG FOR ASSOCIATION

Ninety per cent of the watermelon growers of Fisk and Ash Hill have enrolled as members of the Southeast Missouri Melon Growers' Association for this year, says W. M. Gaty, secretary-manager of the Association, who spent last Saturday with the growers of those communities. There are about 350 acres planted to melons in the Fisk and Ash Hill fields, and more than 300 acres will be Association melons, said Mr. Gaty. The melons from these fields last year brought the highest prices paid for the Southeast Missouri product, and the crop there this year gives promise of a good yield. Some of the melons will be ready for market by July 20th.

The growers of Fisk and Ash Hill are paying considerable attention to thinning and pruning of their vines. They thin to only one vine to a hill and prune to two melons to a vine. They also reserve the space between every eighth and ninth rows as a driveway. This is done by training the vines to grow out of this space. By providing such driveways in their fields the growers can gather their crop without damaging the vines.

State Inspectors May Help
At a meeting of the board of directors of the Southeast Missouri Melon Growers Association, held in Sikeston last Friday, the system of grades and standards as recommended by the State Bureau of Marketing was accepted. The directors instructed Secretary-Manager Gaty to ask the Bureau to send State Inspectors for the various shipping points in this district during the marketing season.

Pigs that will be grown in a number of Missouri counties in the future will prosper because of the Clover and Prosperity Campaign now in progress in Eastern Missouri. By means of this campaign farmers in about a dozen counties will be shown how to make clover and other legumes successful on their farms. This, of course, will provide good clover pasture for pigs. They will thrive and prosper as a result, and so will their owners. Experiments conducted at the Missouri Experiment Station show that pork can be produced much cheaper with good legume pasture, such as alfalfa, and clover than without it. For this one reason alone it is worth while for farmers to grow clover on their farms. The Clover and Prosperity Campaign will aid them in doing it.

HERE'S PLACE WHERE IT WAS 134 IN SHADE

The highest shade temperature ever registered in the free air is 134 degrees, which occurred on Furnace Creek at the eastern edge of Death Valley, Cal. By an odd coincidence the name of this nearest approach to Hades is Greenland Ranch, which is a long way from the Greenland shown in school geographies near the North Pole. Weather bureau authorities state that as there is a great deal of irrigated land about Greenland Ranch it is entirely possible still high temperatures may occur farther down in Death Valley, but no one has ever had the nerve to carry a set of standard instruments that far to test the matter.

For six days during this super-heated period at Greenland Ranch afternoon temperatures rose above 126 degrees and the thermometer never fell lower than 85 degrees at night. Afternoon temperatures reach 100 degrees or higher on an average of 140 days every year at this place and rise to 120 degrees, an average of fifteen days a year.

Heated spells in the corn belt make it look like a summer resort in comparison with those temperatures, but the weather bureau, with its hundreds of sets of thermometers distributed over the country and a record that extends back many years, has obtained official extremes of hot weather that are worth mentioning.

Kansas, Missouri, Arkansas and Oklahoma each has a record of 116 degrees, as its high mark. In Kansas this occurred at Clay Center and Hugoton June 25, 1911, and again at Farnsworth, near Healy, July 13, 1913—three days after the Death Valley record was established.

In Missouri the high record occurred at Marble Hill, Bollinger County, July 22, 1901, and in Oklahoma the record was established at Wagoner, July 16, 1901, at Bushy July 24, 1903, and at Chickasha July 30, 1919. Arkansas' highest temperature occurred at Jonesboro July 12, 1901. Nebraska's record for torrid weather is 115 degrees at Fremont August 4, 1918, and Iowa's is 113 degrees at Sigourney July 22, 1901, and at Clarinda, Knoxville and Shenandoah August 4, 1918. Even Montana, where the natives are supposed to wear their "heavies" the year round, has a record of 113 degrees at Glasgow on July 31, 1900. —E. C. Matthews, Sikeston, Mo.

Arizona, which is famous for its hot summer weather, had an official record of 127 degrees at Parker July 7, 1905, that has never been surpassed in that state.

What is believed to be the hottest 10-day period ever recorded in the corn belt occurred at Clay Center, Kas., from June 21 to 31, 1911, when the average afternoon temperature exceeded 103 degrees. The entire month at that place had an average mid-afternoon temperature of 99 degrees.—K. C. Star.

The "slowest" crop in the world is the giant bamboo of India. It blossoms only when it reaches its 30th year, and then dies. In the meantime it bears an enormous quantity of seed, which is eagerly gathered and used as grain by the natives.

The manufacture of peanut oil has been stimulated a great deal in recent years because of the ravages of the cotton boll weevil in reducing cotton growing in certain sections. Peanuts are grown in place of cotton. Before 1914 very little of the oil was made, only 450,000 pounds being produced in 1912, but by 1918 the quantity turned out by crushers in this country was about 50,000,000 pounds. At the same time imports increased from 7,600,000 to 27,400,000 pounds.

Uncanny Thieves

In the frontier between India and Afghanistan, dwell a race called Afriidis, the cleverest and busiest thieves in the world.

It is said that an Afriidi baptism consists in the parents passing the infant from one room to another thru a hole in the wall, chanting the words, "Be a thief! Be a thief!"

One night a battery of artillery was bivouacked in a valley close to Khyber Pass. Strong guards were placed on the camp and armed sentries patrolled the horse-lines.

Next morning one of the teams reported a complete set of harness missing.

That was hardly surprising, perhaps, but it was the usual artillery harness, composed largely of steel chainwork, and three drivers had been sleeping on it!

That same day, some miles away in the hills, were found those portions of the harness which the thieves did not need. The saddles, head-collars and reins—which they did want—never were found.

There are two remarkable features about these wonderful thieves.

They are never heard or seen, although they obviously work in numbers, and even the best dogs never bark or give any indication that intruders are present.

Some suggest that drugs are used to put the sleeping victims into a stupor, but this does not account for the thieves getting past wide-awake guards.

It is sheer cleverness which brings the Afriidis through undetected.

As for the dogs that don't bark, it is said the spoilers rub themselves with grease from the carcass of a cheetah—an animal so dangerous that its very scent paralyzes dogs in dumb terror.

Max Nathan of Shreveport, La., was a guest at the Griffith home last week. Miss LaRue Townsend of Parma, spent the Fourth of July with home-folks.

Miss Lucy Lewis left Saturday for Oran to be the guest of Miss Marietta Matthews.

Attorney John Fletcher of East Prairie was a business visitor in New Madrid Friday.

Attorney Ralph E. Bailey of Sikeston was looking after business matters in New Madrid Wednesday.

Mrs. Roy E. Anderson and little daughter arrived Tuesday for a visit with her mother, Mrs. Mary Griffith.

Mrs. Oscar Wilkerson and children, of Blytheville, Ark., arrived Saturday on a visit to her mother, Mrs. Mary Griffith.

Mrs. D. B. Riley returned Sunday from Jackson, where she spent two weeks visiting her daughter, Mrs. Paul Mueller.

Attorney C. S. Hale and County Surveyor A. N. Barnett of Morehouse were in New Madrid Monday looking after business.

W. S. Kern, Conductor on Cotton Belt, stationed at Paragould, Ark., came up Sunday to spend the Fourth with home-folks.

Misses Mabel Mecklen and Sarah Allen, students of Teachers College, Cape Girardeau, spent the Fourth with home-folks.

Prosecuting Attorney J. C. McDowell, accompanied by his wife and daughter, was transacting business at the Court House, Friday.

The members of the local Masonic order have decided to repair and paint the Masonic Hall, later on, they expect to erect a new building.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Hensley of Columbia, arrived the first of the week on a visit to the latter's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Mathewson of this city.

Miss Nadine and Ella Hunter returned home from St. Louis, where they attended Loretta College. They were accompanied by Miss Marie Hart.

Mrs. S. J. Smalley went to Memphis Saturday, where she met her two little nieces, Jane and Helen Louise Barnes of Forest City, Ark., who will spend some time with her this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Pinnel have rented the house on Main street, now occupied by Dr. and Mrs. McKinney. Dr. McKinney and family still intend to make New Madrid their home and he will still occupy the same office.

Quite a number of the New Madrid people attended the Southeast Missouri picnic at the home of Judge Caver, near Canalou. A great number of the Southeast Missouri counties were represented. The program was carried out by the county agents and an address was made by Mrs. C. C. Schutler of Farmington.

Miss Ruth Peavler was the charming hostess to a number of friends last Thursday evening with a "bunking party" at the home of her parents, M. and Mrs. C. W. Hampton in this city. Those present were Misses Margaret Carrigan, Willa Richardson, Henrietta Sutton, Martha Broughton, Ance Oglesby and Lois Willett.

A miscellaneous shower was given Mr. W. R. Pinnel, Wednesday afternoon at the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. S. L. Hunter, Jr. The shower which consisted of many useful and beautiful gifts of wearing apparel and gifts for the home was a surprise to Mrs. Pinnel. Mr. and Mrs. Pinnel had the misfortune of losing their home near Marston by fire, last week, and the shower was an expression of their sympathy and kindness. There were about 50 guests present. Several musical numbers were rendered and delicious refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

Mary Agnes, age 2 years and 5 months, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Frye of McComb, Ill., died Monday, July 3rd at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. L. S. Reed in this city. The little one had not been here but for a short time, having returned home with her grandmother about three weeks ago. About ten days ago she was taken ill with summer complaint, but all that medical assistance and kind friends could do, were of no avail. Her little spirit was wafted to the haven of rest. The mother was notified of her illness and was with her child at the passing. The father did not reach here only in time for the funeral, which was held from billy-blow-up, it puffs itself out when C. B. Richards undertaking parlor and

Strange Fish

The angler, or fishing-frog, with its mouth almost as wide as its body is long, is one of the queerest of fishes. On its back it has a number of thread-like appendages which other fish think are the small organisms which form their food.

Before they have discovered their mistake they have fallen a prey to the frog, which does not miss much, with such a capacious mouth. Its appetite, too, is enormous; for in the stomach of one as many as 75 hermit crabs were found!

The sea-horse of Australia lives among seaweeds, being camouflaged by a floating fringe resembling the weeds, which enables it to lure its prey close enough to be captured.

Another instance of camouflage to obtain food is that of a prawn and a small fish which live inside the mouth of a gigantic anemone. They are both white, with red lines, and these colors act as a snare to numerous small creatures which the anemone kills, and all three have a share in the spoils.

There is a family of fish to which the climbing perch of India belongs. They are constantly in and out of the water, and often travel overland. In the rainy season they pass from stream to stream and from pool to pool. When the hot weather comes they bury themselves in mud, from which they emit a gurgling sound. If put in an aquarium they will escape if they are not covered in.

The callichthys, found in the rivers of tropical America and the West Indies, cannot live for more than a quarter of an hour under water, and has to rise to the surface to breathe. It has been known to live for five days entirely out of water.

The periphalampus, common on the shores of India and Australian seas, frequent roots of mangrove trees. When at rest it lies with its body out of the water, the tail only being immersed, and it goes ashore in search of food.

The bienny quite commonly leaves the water, apparently liking plenty of air to breathe.

In South African waters swims a fish something like a toad, and called for the funeral, which was held from billy-blow-up, it puffs itself out when C. B. Richards undertaking parlor and

Children will often eat more bread if different kinds are served, especially for the basket lunch at school or the hot school lunch, says the United States Department of Agriculture. Sometimes so simple a change as baking the bread in a new form—a twist, for example, instead of a loaf—or cutting bread and butter in a fancy shape with a cookie cutter will increase a child's relish for it. So, too, will a change of flavor, obtained by adding a few raisins, dried currants, or nut meats.

Notice

I wish to announce to the public that John Albritton is not with me any more, and that my Undertaking Business will be looked after by myself as embalmer, and Harry Young as Funeral Director.
